Would you use a coffee bar/café in the library?

	Masters	Doctoral	Faculty	Admin	Totals
Yes	30	8	7	3	47
No	2	3	2	1	8

Comments:

Admin: No. There is Free coffee in housing
Good quality coffee, not like housing's!
Take coffee out of housing office. Provide 1 free cup a day to everyone and we pay for subsequent cups.

Faculty: I don't think food/drink in a library is appropriate.
Absolutely. We NEED one. *Must be GOOD coffee.
Go for it!!!

Doctoral: I wouldn't use it, however, if it was just cappucinos/etc. from a machine. If that were the case, I'd continue to go to Starbucks at Norris.
In the library? We need less social space in the library.
Please don't make this more of a social hang-out than it already is!
Please, please. If it fostered conversation that would be great!

Masters: Would not have to be fancy. Drinks/coffee/snacks.
No ice.
Maybe. If it had food...yes, but rarely.
Provide a place to keep personal cups.
Make sure it is fair trade.
It is noisy. There are too few very quiet/silent places @ Garrett
Maybe. I do not shop there enough.
If it was free like upstairs.
Fair trade, shade grown.
Fair trade coffee.
Fair trade please--we also recall how important coffee houses were to the enlightenment...think what one could do for Garrett.
If it was quality--fair trade a plus.
It'd have to be VERY cheap and good to counter my kitchen or SBC
That is a great idea!

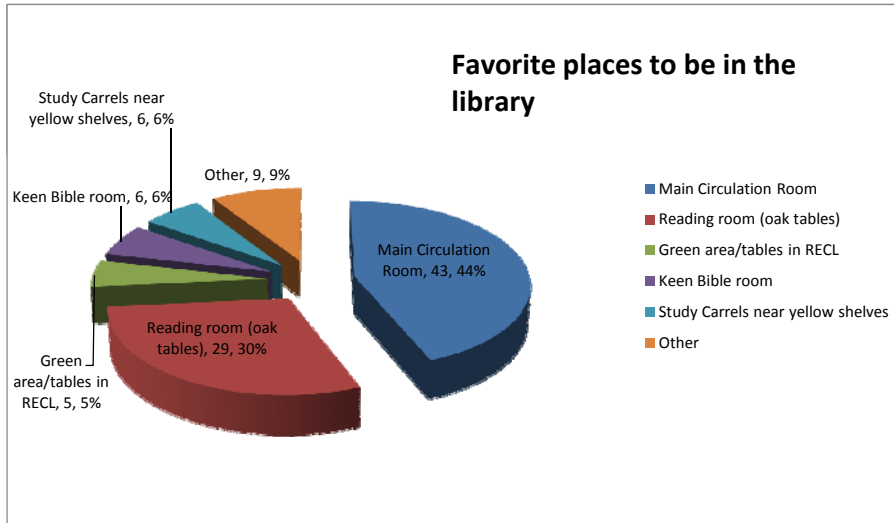

In the current set up of the library my favorite place to be is:

Masters	Doctoral	Admin	Faculty	Totals		Totals
28	5	1	4	38	Main Circulation Room	43

Other spaces named: Stacks in general
 I use the library to access the collection
 The heart and hub of our intellectual life.
 UM Room
 Just the shelves of books

General Comments on current Spaces

Is it possible to contain socializing to a particular location? Can we protect more quiet space?
 United Methodist Room
 Table in the stacks
 Next to the Mummy
 Group study session in Annex
 More Carrels are needed

Comment: I would like to spend more time in periodicals to study.
 We need sofas
 Great windows! Great atmosphere.
 Shouldn't a library be quiet?
 I don't like the reading room.
 The reading room looks pretty but is not functional with the long reading table

What I like most about the library is:

- Faculty: The books
Helpful staff
The difficulty of finding attractive solitary study space
Its resources
The collection (when it is there)
Its non-use by students & faculty
Staff & Holdings
- Admin: Always find what I need
Library Staff
- Masters: computer available
The large oak desks
There are people here and no TV
Visiting with people in the common area
That I can both do homework and spend time with friends
Convenient Location and helpful folk.
I can find quiet space when I need it.
A place to study and to see people
People at the Desk are helpful/friendly
Great resources
Hidden corners for studying
The design of tables and carrels and its continued improvements.
The diversity of both communal space as well as quiet space.
Its accessibility
I get to study in the presence of others.
The social atmosphere
The quiet of the Methodist Room when it is empty.
Common space.
- Doctoral It is comfortable place to study
A place providing study sources
It always has the books that I need; online resources HUGELY helpful.
There are quiet places.

Other comments:

A separate PhD Study suite would be nice, but not necessarily at the expense of other study space.
Fixing the heating "would also allow contro/repair of the heating in the chapel!"
Computer/laptop reappear at the circulation desk is not a library function.
Adjunct Faculty and Emeritus Faculty should have faculty space somewhere else (other than the library)
Restrooms need to be handicapped accessible.
MTS students in writing phase should have 1st priority for study carrels along with PhD students in residency
Thank you so much for seeking student input and for all the wonderful changes so far.
A coffee shop is more important than re-modeling the restrooms.
Providing an opportunity fo community (spontaneous and/or planned) meetings and conversation would be great.
(Regarding emeritus) -- They're retired for a reason! If they want their own space here, they shouldn't have retired! (Simley face was drawn)
(Regarding visitors) == Maybe have one or two carrels available for scholars; otherwise leave them 1st come/1st served.
(Regarding ACTS) == They can use carrels at their own school! Would I really spend enough time at, say, Loyola to justify having a carrel there?
(From a PhD Student) -- The location of the PhD suite doesn't matter.
Outlets for computers must have surge protectors
Library staff has done a great job updating and organizing the library.
Need locking carrels if theft is a problem.
Only about 50% of desk top computers work properly currently
RECL is a good study group area
I like being able to check out laptops and media.
I like how easy it is to order/request a movie.
I wish it was easier to get help with research
Carrels make me feel claustrophobic.
I go to the library to do homework & socialize
Add more restrooms.
The restrooms are kinda creepy but it's a livable situation.
A combined computer help/library desk is a great idea.
The Seabury chairs don't work well. I need soemthign strighter when working on my laptop or even reading.
There are few options for commuter students who wish to study before 8AM classes or when trying to beat traffic. It would be helpful if the libr
The seminary should find offices for all adjunct faculty.
I hope there is a quiet room.
You all are doing a great job!
Holy cow! (Added to emphasize need for outlets)
Need: More table space, comfier chairs at round tables. The chairs by the copiers squeak!

I don't think so.

Library was open at 7AM
