

Library Display Policies

Purposes:

- The display cases in the United Library at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary are used primarily to promote the services of the library and to showcase items of note in the collection.
- Displays are designed to inform patrons of the library collections, services, and events, and to promote library use by students, faculty, staff, alumni, and the local community.
- Displays may also seek to strengthen connections between the library and the seminary, and to connect the seminary community to larger issues facing the world.

Selection and Duration:

- Library staff members select the themes, objects, and duration of exhibits. Patrons are encouraged to submit suggestions for displays, which will be given serious consideration by the library staff, though no guarantee is made as to their use.
